"I know what we can do!" said one of the kids, a boy named Max. "We can play a mystery game."

"What kind of mystery game?" asked another kid, a girl named Lily.

"I don't know," said Max. "We'll just make it up as we go along."

The kids agreed, and they started to brainstorm ideas for their mystery game. They decided that they would be a group of friends who were trying to solve a mystery before the grown-ups caught them.

The kids started to play, and they quickly got caught up in the story. They followed the clues, and they solved the puzzles, and they finally found the answer to the mystery.

The kids were so excited that they had solved the mystery, and they couldn't wait to tell all their friends about it. They knew that they would have a lot of fun playing more mystery games in the future.
